February 10th

Dear Ken,

How are you these days? I've heard that you made your first professional *debut in Europe. Congratulations! I know you practiced very hard to reach that moment. Many people only dream about standing on that field, but you really did it. That shows your great effort and talent.

I've also heard that your *contract with the team was not *renewed, and now you are looking for a new club. I think you may feel sad and worried. It is not easy to live in a foreign country and search for another chance. But please remember this: every challenge can make you stronger. You once told me, "Football is not only about winning but also about learning." I believe this is the time to learn something important.

I watched your debut game on the Internet. You kept running until the last minute, always trying to help your teammates. That spirit is something no contract can take away. There is a *proverb "Fall seven times and stand up eight." It means that even if you fall many times, you must get up again. Life is like football: sometimes we score, sometimes we miss, but the most important thing is to keep playing and moving forward.

Also, many young players in Japan are watching you. Your *determination not to give up gives them hope. Even if you feel small now, you are already *inspiring others. Please don't forget that.

Looking for a new team may take time. You may hear "no" many times. But each "no" will bring you closer to the "yes" you need. When you succeed, the hard times will make the success even greater.

So please stay healthy and keep practicing. I am sure that one day you will play again in front of many fans. This hard time is not the end. It is the beginning.

Best wishes,
Michael Smith

(注) *debut : デビュー *contract : 契約 *renewed : 更新された

*proverb : ことわざ *determination : 決意・決心 *inspiring : 勇気づける、感動させる
